THINK FIRST
People are doing a nice lot of thinking these days. Perhaps it is from force of circumstance, but a good "think" often puts a new light on difficulties and otherwise.

There was hung in the Bassano post office last week a notice whereby a firm offers to pay cash now for the farmers' next year crop on summer-fallow land. Apart from the faith in the future, there is evidence on the face of things that those in the "know" have a strong hunch on how the grain prices will run next fall. This may be a way out for those hard put to finance, but every man should think well on the rate of interest he will pay before entering into any such agreement. Better a little sacrifice now and the full return from the crop next fall.

"Wheat is a splendid price now, it has touched higher than the dollar mark on the Bassano market this week. Men who have made a study of the existing conditions have made the statement that $1.50 would be more of an average next fall than $1.00 is now. Some even claim that $2.50 will not be an exception.

The prospects are for a bumper yield next year. But there is one thing to remember, the seed next spring wants to be put in early, as early as weather conditions permit. There is a likelihood of considerable moisture next year. The harvest will not be so early and late crops will run the risk of being caught by frost.

CAREFUL ADVERTISING NEEDED
Bassano has been successful in securing special legislation allowing the town to offer free industrial to prospective industry. The steps leading up to the present state of affairs are ancient history to the Bassano public. However, the town now occupies the unique position of being the only town in Alberta with such a privilege.

What is going to be done about it? Steps should immediately be taken to lay the facts before those most likely to be interested in the industrial development of this part of western Canada.

Perhaps the Board of Trade could receive assistance from the C.P.R. Department of Natural Resources in gaining the acquaintance of industrial investors.

NOW FOR A BEAUTY SPOT
In forwarding the transfer to the Town of Bassano of the hospital site, the officials of the C.P.R. expressed approval at the town's idea of beautifying the grounds and using them for park purposes.

The work cannot be started too early and plans should be made for planting a nice lot of trees there next year.
Parks, like children, grow slowly and require a lot of training and attention.

SCHOOLS TO BE KEPT OPEN
It is all important to the settlers in the districts affected that the schools should be kept open. Owing to conditions preventing the farmers paying their taxes many schools have been forced to close and children faced the possibility of not having near-at-hand educational privileges until times improved. Now the good news comes that the Alberta government is introducing legislation which will enable the province to loan to the school-districts sufficient money to keep the schools in operation. This will be welcome information to the settlers, who would sacrifice many things rather than put any obstacle in the way of providing an education for their children. The government is acting wisely and well.

GERMAN FINANCES
A Berlin despatch, via the Bay-Ville wireless station, says the German war loan "has been oversubscribed and is a huge success." The Wall Street Journal, however, publishes the other side of the picture. The "huge success" was brought about by attaching 25 per cent of all the bank balances in Germany, and by making Germans who owe accounts to people in other countries pay those accounts to the credit of the German Government, to be credited to the people to whom they are due as loans from them. Such risky and even desperate expedients would be unbelievable were they not supported by legal documents sent out by the German Government and published verbatim by the Wall Street Journal. Evidently Germany is feeling the financial strain to a far greater extent than her worst enemy had dared to hope. Consistent with the theory of the savings banks was bad enough. But to begin to make levies on all the bank balances in the country is to sap the life blood of the country's commerce and industry. By this action the German government has itself begun to write upon the wall, and the message it is writing is "national bankruptcy and ruin."

ALBERTA CATTLE SELL HIGH
From the Toronto press there comes the information that on Oct. 6th, there were sold at the Union Stock Yards of Toronto, by H. P. Kennedy & Co., commission salesmen, to the Toronto Cattle Commission Company, a carload of Alberta cattle for $8.50 per cow. In commenting upon the price the press stated that they were a fine sample of the kind of cattle that Alberta is capable of producing, and were said to be as fine a lot as have been seen on the market during the previous year. While the price was not the highest for the season, it was the top price paid on that day.

The same report states that the firm of H. P. Kennedy & Co. sold Alberta butcher cattle as high as $24c., and light stockers from Alberta at $16c. With feed so plentiful as it is now, it is throughout the central portion of this province, stocker cattle should not be going backward.

ENGLAND DOESN'T BOAST
Much boasting is done about Germany's wonderful trade development. We are even told, and many people readily believe, that the Kaiser's land has beaten Britain commercially. What are the facts? In the eight years from 1905 to 1913 Germany's exports grew from $229,000,000 to $495,000,000, while those of the United Kingdom rose from $308,000,000 to $269,000,000. So you can see the Mother Country is keeping the fore in commerce just as she is keeping her obligations to smaller nations and her place in the sun as the defender of freedom and liberty throughout the world.

Charles Hood, late of Missouri, and Ed. Scott, of Stony Butte, real estate brokers, are about to close a deal on a quarter section of land.

Norman Clark has moved his home from Pilot Mount to a more shady and less obnoxious spot on the landscape.

The barn on the farm of Herbert Art- fers was badly demolished during the recent big snow storm.

NEW COMET VISIBLE NOW
Get Out and Look Into The Heavens and See It For Yourself.
Have you seen the new comet? There is a new comet in the sky which can be seen with the aid of a glass on a favorable opportunity. When the moon is below the horizon, it can be seen by a tall, a couple of degrees high. This is to say, a tail that appears about four times as long as the breadth of the moon. This comet can be located by anyone who knows the Great Dipper and the North Star. It is at present just under the handle of the Big Dipper. The tail is to the right of the handle of the handle to the North Star.

The comet is travelling towards us, and in another two or three weeks will be seen just at that star: that is, towards the Pole Star from the Arctic. It is a very bright one, and can easily be found by using the first two stars in the handle of the Dipper as pointers. Looking along the line that these two stars mark in the direction away from the bowl of the Dipper, this very brilliant star immediately catches the eye, though it is not exactly in the line indicated, but near to it. The new comet, as its name implies, will be a very long distance from the earth, over a hundred and forty-five million miles. If it happened to come when the earth was at a different part of its orbit around the sun, it might have been quite close to us. The new comet is a hundred times as bright as the great comet of Halley, which was so much admired four years ago. But which proved so disappointing.

Just how comets are constructed we have as yet somewhat vague notions. It is not even known whether there is any solid part in the head of a comet, the only good proof we have one way or the other, shakes it rather doubtful that there is anything solid about a comet at all. This proof was obtained in 1882, when a great comet passed directly between the earth and the sun. The only two persons to observe its passage were Mr. Lindley and Mr. Ellis, of the Cape of Good Hope Observatory. Neither of them could see that it obstructed the sun's light at all. However, at the time of the passage, the comet was very close to the Earth's atmosphere, and the dust, trailing from the mountains, made its light unduly badly, so that it is possible a small dark spot might have passed unobserved. It seems probable that there are chunks of iron similar to the meteorites, that we call shooting stars, in the comet's head. As to the million of miles of brightness that we call the tail of a comet, it probably contains some substance that our lighted gas. To call it a tail is rather a misnomer, for the comet does not drag it after it, nor, indeed, does it even in the atmosphere.

It is only when the comet approaches the sun that this cloud of minute particles is forced into a streamer by the action of the sun. For this reason, when the comet is approaching the sun, the tail is behind the comet; but when the comet is going away from the sun, its tail travels in front of it. There are a little over fourteen comets which have become the regular calling acquaintances of astronomers. Each of these is named after an astronomer, and they become visible at regular periods. The one that comes most frequently can be seen with telescope every four years. Thirteen others have established periods ranging from four and a half to six and a quarter years. One goes around the sun every ten years. Three others come in at intervals of only one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, The rink man claims he won't make ice till he sells enough tickets to ensure running expenses for the winter. This is child's play.
